Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has Discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE,

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J., may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits, than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened, loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting away of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.

Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN

who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveler returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Certain, Speedy, and Effectual Remedy in the World for all Diseases of Imprudence.

DR. JOHNSTON,

OFFICE No. 7 S. FREDERICK STREET, BALTIMORE, MD.,

left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe name and number.

☞No letters received unless post-paid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

There are so many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Impostors advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation that his Credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this Establishment, year after year, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

SKIN DISEASE SPEEDILY CURED.

CHARLEY AND HIS DORG.

Charley had a little dog
With hair as black as jet,
And every place that Charley went
The purp went too, you bet.

He followed him to school one day,
That happened to be near,
But when the teacher booted him,
He walked off on his ear.

Returning home he met a cow,
And at that cow did fly;
She tossed him up five hundred feet—
And how is that for high?

The poor beast ne'er came down again,
And Charles was left a mourner:
For the purp lodged in the steeple top
Of the little church 'round the corner.

When Charley heard his darling's fate,
A word he scarcely said,
But toddled home, and weeping, cried,
"Now put me in my little bed."

LEARNING TO SKATE.

"Do you ever skate?"

"H—m; not much; do you?"

"Oh, yes! I'm passionately fond of it. I'm so sorry you don't skate!"

"Perhaps I could learn. I would like anything that you liked—but there's our turn—" and away the couple went after a momentary pause, in the German.

The speakers were Miss Oylwell, of Fifth avenue, and Bob Frothingham, a favorite in society, of no particular place. Scene: Mrs. Smith's mansion, on the avenue above mentioned, ten o'clock in the evening, gaslight, long, crowded room, music, thirty couple swaying and whirling about in the German.

As soon as they came to another pause, Miss Oylwell, lifting her fan, and looking very warm, continued enthusiastically:

"You must learn, Mr. Frothingham. Why, I never dreamed that a man who dances as you dance, don't know how to skate."

"It wasn't so fashionable when I was in my youth," her partner was about to confess, but he checked himself. He passed for a good looking young man of from thirty-three to thirty-five, and if he were any older he succeeded in keeping it a secret. He was quite the best dancer in the room; in fact, he had been chosen by Mrs. Smith to lead the German, and she had kindly given him the richest girl on the list for a partner. Here was a chance it would be madness to neglect. From two to three hours with the richest girl in the room, young and pretty besides, and the prospect of leading her down to supper! Mr. Frothingham had considered himself "in clover" until that unlucky reference to skating.

"Have you heard that old Doubleday has left his wife?" he asked, quite forgetting the unsuitable nature of the subject, in his anxiety to change the drift of Miss Oylwell's thoughts.

She opened her blue eyes widely, but answered him quite unembarrassed:

"La, yes, a week ago. I'm going to Central Park to-morrow. Didn't you think, when you came in, that the skating would be good by that time? It was so splendidly cold."

"It was cold," asserted her partner.

"Oh, freezing! The ice will be beautiful to-morrow—I know it will. It's so funny you don't skate! That's the reason I have never met you at our pond, I suppose. Carrie and I have season tickets to the pond. But we're going to the Park to-morrow, for a little extra fun. I do wish you were going, Mr. Frothingham. Do go. You can learn in a little while. You dance so beautifully, I'm sure you'll skate to perfection. Do you know, I believe I could skate out this whole German on the ice, without a single false step.—Will Herring says I never look so well as when I'm on the ice. You ought to see my skating costume."

"I should like to, very much; though I'm sure it would be utterly impossible for you to look better than you do at this moment. In my eyes, a woman always looks prettiest in ball costume—and yours, Miss Oylwell, is exquisite."

"Thank you, Mr. Frothingham. I expect it is pretty—it cost enough."

"The cost would be nothing, if there was not a handsome girl to wear it." The gentleman got out this tremendous falsehood with the ease of long practice. It might have been worn by an angel, yet had it not been cut in the latest mode and been of the richest material, it would not have awakened his sense of beauty. Miss Oylwell, for her part, having only sported expensive things for a year or two, also still estimated them very much, as she had naively confessed, at their cost.

"La, you needn't think to flatter me—I'm used to it, and don't have the least effect," she cried merrily. "Will Herring said he should be at the Park at two o'clock to-morrow. I'd awfully like to make him jealous. I do wish you would call and go with me, Mr. Frothingham. We'll go in the carriage and then send it back."

This was an invitation not to be neglected. To be actually asked to the Oylwell house, to be promised a ride in their carriage, and the privilege of escorting and taking care of Miss Oylwell, at Central Park, where many would see his good fortune, lifted him up to the seventh heaven of hope. But he kept sinking as fast as he rose. Who was this "Will" whom she had twice mentioned, and whom she wanted to make jealous?—and, oh, gracious! if she should insist on his trying to skate!

However, before the German and the supper were over, he was in for it. He promised Miss Oylwell that he would go with her to the Lake and that he would bring a pair of skates. What was left of that night, after Mrs. Smith's German was over, was spent by Mr. Frothingham in a state of agitation which precluded anything like real repose. He had struggled for twenty years to make his fortune by marrying one to his hand, and had never been nearer to it than now. Miss Oylwell evidently favored him. She had blushed at some of his compliments, which was high testimony in favor of the effect they had produced, for she, although but eighteen, was quite inured to flattery. She had actually urged him to escort her to the Park. Ah! if it only had been summer time, what a happy man he would have been! Then, with soft airs, and sweet perfumes, and soft music, he might press her soft hand softly, and be as soft upon her as he chose. All things would have smiled upon him. But in winter!—ugh! he shivered under the bedclothes as he thought of it. The wind was rough, and his nose always got purple, and he was afraid the ice would bring on his rheumatism. He should have to rise by eleven to make his toilet; and, be he ever so careful about it, he was afraid of the consequences of a bad night's rest, of broad sunlight and glaring snow. He should look at least ten years older than he did the previous evening, where the shaded gaslights of Mrs. Smith's rooms told no tales of vinegar-rouge and hair-dye, of incipient wrinkles and artistic enameling.

It would not do to lie awake thinking of it, for the less he slept the older he should look; so he fairly forced himself into a slumber, from which he was awakened about ten, A. M., by dreaming that he was dancing the German with Miss Oylwell on a glass floor, made of ice, and that he slipped, fell and broke his false nose, and that Miss Oylwell laughed outrageously.

Now his nose was not false, although some of his other features were, and he sprung up in bed, rubbing it, and glad that it was only a dream. He got up and drew aside the window curtain. Everything was glittering and sparkling. It was cold—steady, crackling cold. His wild hope that there might be a thaw congealed at once. Two or three times, while dressing, he felt tempted to break the engagement, and thus lose the chance to make a more important one. But he had not labored twenty years to give up now. He would go—he would make himself agreeable—if necessary, he would skate.

Bracing himself with three cups of strong coffee and a dozen fried oysters, he sallied out, a well made-up and elegant looking gentleman, gloved, cloaked and furred in the latest style. His first duty was to buy a pair of skates; a shop stood ready, not far from the restaurant where he had breakfasted. The willing clerk showed him a dozen different styles. Avowing his ignorance of such things, and that he wanted "the best," he paid, with an inward groan, for the pair of patent self-adjusting, self-regulating, self-balancing, lightning skates, which were selected for him, slung them over his arm with the air of one familiar with the slippery affairs, and picked his way to the house of the rich—the immeasurably, unaccountably rich—heiress.

The carriage was already at the door, and in the reception-room Mr. Frothingham was introduced to Carrie, a younger sister, who had not yet "come out," and Mr. Herring, no doubt the "Will" of whom he had heard. They were all ready, and eager to start.

"You've kept us waiting ten minutes," cried Miss Oylwell.

"Really, have I now? That's unpardonable; but that awkward clerk was so long fitting my skates."

"A new pair?" asked Mr. Herring, politely.

"He doesn't skate—but I'm going to teach him how," said Miss Oylwell; "lets be off, or the ice will be too crowded."

They took their seats in the carriage; the horses dashed off, glad to be moving in such weather; it seemed to Frothingham that they were not over three minutes going the three miles to the Lake. His companions were full of frolic. The girls were bewitching, in their scarlet petticoats and Polish boots, their coquettish skating caps and ermine furs; the cold air only made their cheeks red and their eyes bright, and their white foreheads whiter, while poor Frothingham's eyes were full of water, and his handkerchief in constant use. He did his best, however, to be agreeable, concealing the anguish at his heart, under a demeanor of youthful gayety, all the time conscious that he was watched with jealous eyes by the handsome and healthy young fellow opposite, who, finding that he was not to sit by Miss Oylwell, made himself as comfortable as possible by the side of laughing Miss Carrie.

"Here we are! Oh, look, look! what crowds! Won't we have a jolly time?" and Miss Oylwell clapped her hands.

"I wish it were another German instead of this," sighed her companion, in her ear, pressing her hand, as he assisted her out of the carriage.

"I don't, sir; don't you see, we can dance all the year round, but skating comes but once a year. You'll like it as well as I, when you get used to it."

"Perhaps I will," and he escorted her towards the ladies' dressing room; but she wasn't a bit cold, and wanted her skates on immediately.

One thing he could do gracefully, and that was to kneel to fasten on her skates; but he had to be instructed in the mysteries of strapping. They were on, all right, and the other couple stood waiting for them.

"Now put on yours, Mr. Frothingham."

"Oh, not just yet. I'll watch you awhile, first."

Miss Carrie darted off by herself, with school-girl freedom, while Mr. Herring and the heiress glided off gracefully, looking so handsome, happy and well-mated, that the forlorn, forsaken one, sitting there by himself, would have ground his false teeth with jealousy, had he not been afraid of injuring the enamel.

Every once in awhile they skated up to him, pausing to urge him to try his luck on the ice; and every time the young man appeared more easy, happy and self-assured, and the girl more radiantly beautiful. The exercise sent the warm blood to their lips and cheeks, and merriment bubbled up in their hearts.

"If this goes on much longer, I'm lost," murmured Frothingham, when they sailed away for the fourth time. "Here, boy, put on these deuced things for me."

When they again came gliding into port, convoying Carrie also, he had braced himself to the undertaking.

"I guess I'll try it this time," he murmured, as the heiress, all glowing and sparkling, sped up to him. "Wait a minute, till Mr. Herring gets out of the way,"—for something told him who was his most dangerous rival, and he did not like the cool, laughing light in the young man's eyes.

"Oh, I'll get out of your way. Come Carrie,"—and away they flew.

"Don't you think you'd better take a chair?—they're so much more comfortable for ladies," asked her partner, trying to prolong the dreadful moment when he was to balance himself on those treacherous instruments of torture strapped firmly upon his slender feet.

"You can, if you prefer one," with a little, sarcastic laugh. "I thought chairs were for invalids and old folks."

Horrible! did she suspect?—he must make an effort. She was growing impatient to be away again—he could see that, plainly.

"What spirits you have, Miss Oylwell! and how charming you look. Perfectly charming, upon my word. Your cheeks are like roses. You don't seem a bit cold," he rattled on, to draw her attention from his efforts to stand on the smooth, glistening surface, which mocked his distress.

"Cold?—I guess not. That last race put me all in a glow. You do first-rate. Indeed you do. Now, then, strike out."

"What do you mean by strike out?"

"This way,"—and she showed him.

Despair will sometimes do what nothing less could accomplish. In sheer desperation Frothingham "struck out," and, to his own agreeable astonishment, did not bring up on his back.

"You do better than I expected. Isn't it nice? Once you get used to it, and you will like it better than the German. Now, take my hand, and we'll go slowly along together. That's it. All you want, Mr. Frothingham, is confidence."

"It's the first time I've ever been lacking in that," thought he, his spirits rising with this little success, and his teeth ceasing to chatter.

"Who could help learning with such a teacher," he whispered, as soon as he could command his voice, holding very tightly to the little hand nestled in his. "Ah, Miss Oylwell, if I could dare to aspire to the thought that you might be my teacher through life to teach me all those sweet—ah-h!" and he clung tighter, and very nearly slipped up, having come in contact with a passing demoiselle.

"What on earth is there that you don't know already? I'm sure I shouldn't presume to teach you anything but skating," replied the heiress, looking at him with the most innocent expression.

"You know what I mean dear, dearest Miss Oylwell! You can teach me to love—to adore—to kneel at your feet in worship"—and just then, forgetting his new art in his old one, his heels flew from under him, and he came down on his knees in good earnest. Several of the people about them laughed, and as the pretty girl who helped him up did the same, he was fain to join in, though he felt dreadfully jarred.

"Thank fortune, I didn't fall on the back of my head; my wig might have come off," was his secret rejoicing.

"I didn't expect you to kneel in this crowd," said the heiress, with a soft, saucy, piquant look, which might have been encouraging, or might have been prompted merely from girlish fun. He chose to consider it encouraging, and he began to feel less cold, and to believe that he could learn to skate for the sake of an interest in the oil region, and a place of shelter in the avenue.

"Let us find a quiet place and sit down a little while," he said, "I've something very particular to say, and I'm afraid—"

"Of tripping up? I couldn't possibly sit down when I'm so warm; I should take cold. Mamma has ordered me not to; see, that's Will! Doesn't he skate magnificently? Come, try again."

Her suitor tried again; and ever as he slid slowly along, clinging timidly to the heiress' hand, Will Herring shot past them like an arrow, returned, circled about, cut the most intricate patterns in the ice before their faces, skimmed away like a swallow, back again, around, off, near, far, amid admiring cheers, followed by her eyes until her companion grew desperate, and resolved to draw her away from the dangerous rivalry, let what would come. Wild with ambition to achieve, he struck out bravely, and the heiress glided by his side, her eyes, however, still fixed upon the champion skater's retreating form.

Suddenly there was a cry of warning. Too late. The couple were beyond a stake marked "dangerous," the ice was cracking beneath their feet, the water rising over it a step or two away. Light and skillful as Miss Oylwell was, she could, even then, have turned away and escaped the consequences of her carelessness, but poor Frothingham could not turn himself a hair's-breadth, and clung tenaciously to her hand, dragging her down with him. There was a shriek—surely, not her voice!—a splash, crash, splash, and both were floundering in the water. Men dashed aimlessly about, and women screamed.

"Stop yer yellin'!" roared an ungallant policeman, to the excited crowd, "and keep back," as he ran up with a plank; "taint deep enough to drown'd 'em, but its too deep to feel good."

His advice was obeyed by the most, but one young man, who had been rods away the previous minute, could not be held back, and sprang into the water as naturally as a Newfoundland.

"Get her on the plank," shouted the policeman, and while he stayed one end of the board on the ice, the young man assisted the young lady to foot-hold; then a dozen hands reached out and pulled her to aqua firma, and her rescuer gave his assistance to her companion, still floundering and splashing amid the ruins of the splintered ice.

For a moment all was fuss and confusion; then Will Herring, dripping and steaming, was clasping Miss Oylwell's wet glove and looking very much as though he wanted to kiss.

"Oh, Will, it was so good of you to get me out."

"But you mustn't stand here; not a moment. Is the carriage waiting? Yes, I see it, just coming up. Will any one lend the young lady a dry shawl or two? We will drive home as fast as the horses will take us. You'll both take your death of cold. Come, Frothingham."

But no Frothingham answered.

"Where is he? Where can he be? Didn't he get out?" anxiously cried Miss Oylwell, while little Carrie cried, and Herring, shivering, looked about for his rival.

There was no Frothingham to be seen, yes—no! no Mr. Frothingham, but another person who certainly looked as if he had been in the water, though how he, too, became wet and shivering, no one could say. But two persons went into the water, and this was not one of them.

This was quite an elderly man; his head was bald, and looked pitiful, without any hat, that article being still afloat in the air hole. There was something else beside the hat—it may have been a wig.

Looking twice and thrice, and seeing no one but this half drowned individual, light broke gradually upon Will Herring, though it was all dark yet to Miss Oylwell.

"Good heavens! Frothingham, is this you?" he burst forth.

Miss Oylwell looked, and gave a little scream.

"If it's you, pray come along. The lady will freeze to death." The fortune-hunter gave one glance at the heiress' face, and saw that the game was all up for him.

"I can't nor won't go till I find my teeth," he muttered, speaking as plainly as chattering toothless jaws would allow him. "Won't some fellow dive and find my teeth? I'll give five dollars to anybody that'll get my teeth."

"That wouldn't pay for gettin' wet," sung out a rough chap.

"Well, ten, then," he moaned, in desperation.

"Offer a reward, and come away. You'll take your death-cold," remonstrated Will. "The ladies can't wait."

"I don't want them to; I'll get a private vehicle, and go to my hotel."

"Good-bye, then," cried Will, and we are afraid there was triumph in his voice.

It was no time to stand upon ceremony, and Miss Oylwell hurried home to dress. The next day she was on the ice again with Will Herring, not a bit daunted by yesterday's misfortune; but alas, Mr. Frothingham was no more seen by her side. Neither was he met again for some weeks, at German or soiree. Upon sending to inquire after his health, Miss Oylwell learned that he was confined to his room by influenza.

The rumor of her engagement to Will Herring was quite prevalent before Mr. Frothingham got out again. That gentleman is still unequaled in the German, and it takes a great deal to make him blush. But he has been known to do it—when some unconscious fair one chanced to ask him if he is fond of skating?

A BEAR STORY.

A good story reaches us now of an adventure up in Roscommon county, a few days ago, wherein a celebrated Saginaw land-looker cuts a prominent figure. It seems that the hunter of land was out alone in that region, viewing the lay of the land and the height of the timber, and, while plodding along he was attracted by a small mass of something black immediately in front of him, which seemed to be alive. The black mass turned out to be a young cub. Land-looker thought he would take him into camp, and having with him a water-proof overcoat, he at once unrolled it and in a short time had overhauled the cub and thrown the coat over it. Next, to secure the little fellow, the woodsman undid the straps around his boots and proceeded to strap up the infant bear. While engaged in the process, the cub, not used to the confinement of a cradle, or stays, or such nonsense, squealed, and out of a patch of chaparral, a few feet to the rear of our hero, came a corresponding squeal, only much louder and more mother-like. Our land-looker took in the situation at a glance, and in another glance he was in the top of a six-inch basswood, which must have grown there for his special benefit. From this "eyrie" or lofty resting place, in the top of the basswood, the land-looker took a last fond look at his water-proof, as it was converted into strips about an inch wide by the gentle mother of the untamed cub. Not until she had released her offspring and made a complete wreck of the coat, and gone her way, did the gentleman "up a tree" give vent to anything louder than suppressed breathing, and he didn't stop to pick up his coat, either, after his descent from the tree. It is said that some good time was made by him from the foot of that basswood to camp. The land looker says that when he first saw that cub he thought it was his. Now he thinks he must have been mistaken. He says he never had much passion for cubs.

WHAT'S TRUMPS.—When the celebrated "Copenhagen Jackson" was British minister to this country, he resided in New York, and occupied a house on Broadway. Neil McKinnon, a wag, one night at a late hour, in company with a bevy of convivial companions, while passing the house, noticed that it was brilliantly illuminated, and that several carriages were at the door. "Halloa!" said our wag, "what's going on at Jackson's?" One of the party remarked that Jackson had a party that evening.

"What!" exclaimed Neil, "Jackson have a party and I not invited? I must see to that!" So stepping up to the door, he gave a ring, which soon brought the servant. "I want to see the British minister," said Neil.

"You must call at some other time," said the servant, "for he is now engaged in a game of whist and must not be disturbed."

"Don't talk to me in that way," said Neil, "but go directly and tell the British minister that I must see him immediately on special business."

The servant obeyed and delivered the message in so impressive a style as to bring Mr. Jackson to the door forthwith.

"Well," said Mr. Jackson, "what can be your business at this time of night, which is so urgent?"

"Are you Mr. Jackson?"

"Yes, sir, I am Mr. Jackson."

"The British minister?"

"Yes sir."

"You have a party here to-night, I perceive, Mr. Jackson?"

"Yes sir, I have a party."

"A large party, I presume?"

"Yes sir, a large party."

"Playing cards, I understand?"

"Yes sir, playing cards."

"O well," said Neil, "as I was passing I merely called to inquire what's trumps."

DON PIATT writes about popping the question on horseback as though he had been there; Don't do it; it's the most awkward place to pop in the world. If you're rejected you can't get away; if you're accepted you can't embrace. Horses don't understand that, and by the time you get your arms around her the animals pull you apart; and if you attempt to kiss you are joggled up and down all over the countenance, kissing the nose and chin more than any other place.

A NEWLY married couple, aged respectively fifteen and thirteen, have lately gone to housekeeping in Westerly, R. I.

THE STORY OF THE CREDIT MOBILIER.

A correspondent suggests that many persons would understand the drift of the Credit Mobilier investigation much better if they could only get a clear idea, to start with, of the origin of the Credit Mobilier, and of the manner in which it became connected with the Union Pacific railroad. It is perfectly true that an intelligent notion of this first step in the affair is necessary to a full appreciation of all subsequent ones; and it is also true, fortunately, that, though the whole story would be a very long one, the facts necessary for the purpose just alluded to can be put in tolerably brief compass.

Something like twenty-three years ago our legislature at Harrisburg granted a character to a certain "fiscal agency," in which the most prominent figure was Mr. Duff Green. The heirs of Mr. Duff Green sold this charter after his death for a small sum to Mr. G. F. Train and others, by whom its name was changed, under legislative act, to the "Credit Mobilier." Under this and its former title various acts regarding it were passed; but it is enough to say that the company was financial in character, and, as need hardly be added, it was not originally formed for the object to which Mr. Oakes Ames afterward utilized it. For, it was more than a dozen years later that, during the Winter of 1862-63, Congress passed the first transcontinental railroad act, incorporating thereby the Union Pacific railroad company, authorizing it to hold a hundred millions capital, and granting the right of way, heavy additional land grants in alternate sections along the proposed road, and, finally, a large government loan in six per cent. bonds for the construction of the road, the amount per mile varying in different sections according to the estimated difficulties of construction. Liberal and almost lavish as these provisions were, they proved to be inadequate to achieve the object, probably on account of the uncertainties of the war then prevailing, which made capital timorous regarding investment in a new enterprise of such magnitude, in times so perilous. It was found, as Mr. Oakes Ames has testified, practically impossible to procure the enormous amount of paid-up capital which the act of incorporation required. Congress, therefore, in the Winter of 1864-65, let down the bars, and, while it relaxed the stringency of its own safeguards on the one hand, it offered much higher inducements to capitalists on the other. It doubled, for example, the quantity of land grants, and made its own claim for the reimbursement of its loan only a second mortgage, thus allowing a first mortgage to be inserted prior to its own, on which contractors for the construction of the road could rely with more security.

Mr. Ames, a congressman of large fortune, accumulated in business, who had become greatly attracted by this gigantic railroad project, now devoted his energies and fortune to pushing it through. For the purpose of securing the great benefits, while avoiding the great risks of the undertaking, he devised the plan of constructing the road at a large profit, under the name of a subordinate company who should also have such a controling influence in the Union Pacific R. R. Company as to pay themselves handsomely out of the enormous congressional grants. The directors of the latter company were prohibited by law from being interested in contracts for building the road. He accordingly purchased the franchises of the Credit Mobilier (which seemed as good for his purpose as any existing corporation, having large general powers,) and the Union Pacific company then proceeded by indirection (through a convenient subterfuge) to award to the Credit Mobilier the contract for constructing the road, and even transferred to it the profits on a part of the road then already constructed.

This was the way in which these two enterprises became connected. How, then, did the congressional scandal arise? In the first place, as we have already hinted, the managements of the two companies were, for all practical purposes, one and the same. There were some trifling individual exceptions, but the leading spirits, and the great stock-holders, such as Oakes Ames, Oliver Ames, McComb, Durant and Alley, were, at different epochs, found in both companies, so directing each as to dovetail with the other. The Washington lobbyists and jobbers, getting a little inkling of this secret connection, agitated in Congress for adverse legislation, apparently for the purpose of extorting blackmail. To counteract this influence, and to make congressmen disposed to legislate favorably, an arrangement was made for the sale of Credit Mobilier stock to congressmen, at much less than its market value, which stock Mr. Ames says he "placed where he thought it would do the most good." So matters went on till McComb and Ames quarrelled, when the former filed a bill in equity in the Supreme Court of our State for the recovery of the value of two hundred and fifty shares of Credit Mobilier stock, which McComb alleges he had paid for, and which Mr. Ames, in reply, said that he had "placed" as already stated.

From this point start the congressional investigations, which, as we need not explain, have resulted in a full exposure of the congressmen concerned. The first suspicious point in the "purchase" of Credit Mobilier stock by various congressmen from Mr. Ames was that it was acquired at less than half its market value, and that dividends on it, amounting to two or three times the price paid by them, came back in the form of cash and Union Pacific stock in the course of fifteen months, while in all cases a cash dividend of 60 per cent. was paid within 10 or 20 days of the purchase, accompanied, Mr. Ames says, with his personal assurance that the dividends were so large as to require no paying up in money of the stock. It was only long after, when the case came before the courts, that the members protested their innocence of suspecting that there was anything wrong about the matter or any effort to influence their legislation. We may add that the testimony given before the Wilson committee a day or two since shows that the clear profits of the Credit Mobilier company were upward of $35,000,000 for building the road. No wonder that the stock was considered lucrative at the time when congressmen took it, and took it with what some of them now have the assurance to claim was a sort of child like ...cence, never dreaming that it wa... thing more than an every-day bu... investment.

GOVERNOR BOOTH, of California, is disgusted with the Radical party of that State and is about affiliating with the Democrats, in order, using his own language to "save California from ruin."

IN commenting upon the different steps taken by Vice President Colfax to relieve himself from the stain cast upon his character by his connection with the disreputable Credit-Mobilier business the New York Tribune says "Each succeeding step has led him lower down until to-day he stands before the country inextricably entangled in the meshes of his own falsehoods."

COLFAX'S LAME DEFENCE.—A Washington dispatch says "the defence of Colfax before the Credit Mobilier Committee falls so far below the expectation of his friends that the latter have been blaming his counsel for allowing it to be submitted. The fact that he simply denies the original memorandum of the new cumulated evidence against him shows that there is enough to convict him of having received a dividend, even if his own explanation of the $1200 check is accepted."

THE remains of ex-Gov. Geary were interred at Harrisburg on Thursday last. Both Houses of the Legislature attended, Hon. Wm. McSherry being one of the Senate pall bearers. At ten o'clock the body was taken to the Presbyterian Church, where Rev. Mr. Robinson preached a sermon. Upon the close of the service the procession moved to the cemetery. The military, Masonic, Odd Fellow, and other organizations made up a most imposing funeral cortege. Gen. A. L. Russell acted as chief marshal, and Gen. J. F. Jordan commanded the military.

SENATOR BOGY.—The accusation of bribery which was brought against Senator Bogy, of Missouri, has been carefully scrutinized by the Legislature of that State and the charge ascertained to be utterly without foundation. When the attention of the Legislature was called to the rumors which had been put in circulation, a committee of investigation was ordered at once. Thereupon Mr. Bogy left Jefferson City so that it might not be said that he interfered in any way with the examination of the case. The result is that Mr. Bogy goes into the Senate as an honest and independent Democrat, free from the slightest suspicion of having used unlawful means to secure his seat.

THE CENTENNIAL MEETING.—By reference to an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that a most imposing demonstration is to be made in Philadelphia on the 22d of this month, in furtherance of the Centennial Celebration. Eminent speakers will attend from our own State and from all parts of the Union. The finest music has been provided, and the balcony will be filled by the county delegations and the various trade and other committees for whom spaces will be reserved. From these committees full reports will be received showing precisely what progress has hitherto been made throughout Pennsylvania and an evidence of the liberality with which the stock has been taken by our people will appear in a list to be published in the papers of the day following of the names of all subscribers with the number of shares taken by each.

THE CREDIT MOBILIER REPORT.—The Washington correspondents have been unusually industrious in trying to discover the results of the investigation of the Credit Mobilier scandal before the Poland committee. From the mass of conflicting rumors and statements more or less entitled to credit, the following few grains of fact are culled by the correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce:

On Thursday a majority of the committee agreed to recommend the expulsion of Oakes Ames and James Brooks, and the censure of all other implicated members of the House, with a severity commensurate with the degree of their several offendings and to omit recommendations regarding Senators on the ground of the House having no jurisdiction. Judge Poland thereupon commenced writing a report on that basis for final action by the committee Monday. Since then, however, every form of appeal in favor of modified recommendations has been applied. Members of the committee say they are distressed because they are charged with a duty demanding firmness and severity but are met at every step with appeals for clemency that are difficult to resist.

SPAIN A REPUBLIC.—King Amadeus, on Wednesday last, abdicated the Spanish throne, and the Cortes at once resolved to establish a Republic. So far there has been no disorder.

In his message of abdication the King stated that he had maturely considered the step he was about to take and had firmly resolved upon it. When he accepted the crown, he did so under the belief that the loyalty of the people who had called him would compensate for the inexperience which he brought to his task. He had found that herein he was deceived.

If the enemies who had beset his path had been foreigners he would not have taken the course now determined upon, but they are Spaniards. By them Spain had been kept in perpetual disquiet. All his efforts to quiet her or put an end to the intrigues which were the source of her agitation had proved unavailing. It was not enough that he had a partisan support. He had no wish to remain on the throne as the king of a party. He therefore announced his abdication on behalf of himself and his heirs.

LEGISLATIVE.—In the Senate on Thursday last, Mr. McSherry read in place a bill to incorporate the Farmers Savings Bank of New Oxford, Adams county. The bill has since been reported from the committee.

Senator Petriken offered a resolution for a select committee to take into consideration the fisheries of this Commonwealth, and the stocking of its streams with useful food fish, which was agreed to. We hope Mr. Petriken will hammer away at this subject until something of real practical value be accomplished. With its many magnificent streams of fresh water, Pennsylvania should long ago have taken the lead in fish culture.

In the Senate, on Friday Mr. Wallace's bill to repeal all laws exempting real estate from taxation was taken up, and after various amendments all tending to secure lot holders in burial grounds from taxation it was passed finally. This law does not affect the law repealing the three mill tax on real estate. It was claimed by Mr. McClure and others who urged its passage, that over $50,000,000 worth of property in Philadelphia alone would thus be restored to taxation.

REV. W. A. GOOD died at Reading last week, and Judge Samuel S. Woods at Lewistown, on the 5th inst.

DURING the late Presidential campaign the Democrats and Liberals fought the battle under the banner of reform. In order to prove their sincere desire for an honest administration of the government, the Democracy deliberately nominated and supported for the highest office in the gift of the people, a life-long political opponent, whose only difference from his party consisted in his aversion to its illiberal policy and the corruptions of its leaders. But no sooner did Horace Greeley become the candidate of the Democratic and Liberal Reformers, than the administration press denounced him and his cause, denied the corruptions charged against the Radical leaders, and sneered at the alleged necessity for a reformation in the civil service.

But now that the election is over, and Greeley is dead, all is changed. The thin veil which disguised the iniquity of the Radical leaders is rent, their political dishonesty and moral obliquity appear in all their naked hideousness and while Greeley, whose sensitive nature sank under their bitter and unjust reproaches is canonized in the hearts of the people his principal slanderers are the subjects of popular execration.

This is HISTORY. Let it be so written down and remembered, to the eternal shame of the Radical party.

AN UGLY PHASE OF THE WOMAN-SUFFRAGE QUESTION.—The Philadelphia Day presents a stunning argument against woman-suffrage. It says: The jury in the Kerr and Smet case are still out at the present writing and may remain out until the 4th of July. If woman suffrage were legalized in this State a woman or two might have been drawn on this jury. Reader, imagine your wife or daughter locked up with ten or eleven men for days and nights deliberating upon a dirty case like this. But dirtier cases than this often have to be traversed by jurors, and women, as voters, would be as liable as men to be drawn and placed on juries in all such cases. This is only one point against woman suffrage, and it is a minor point, but it is worth considering.

To make it a little stronger, there might as there doubtless would, be one or two negroes on the jury, to add to the other attractions and duties of jurors confined in an eight by ten unventilated room, with all the probable moral surroundings.

GEN. DIX was last November elected Governor of New York as the incarnation of official purity and reform, and yet it now appears if we are to credit the latest developments, that he too is no better than he should be.

The testimony is that General Dix, when Minister to France, under a Republican Administration acted as broker for the sale of Union Pacific stock or bonds, and although, with all his efforts he did not succeed as the phrase is in "floating" one of them, he was paid $50,000 for his services. If this be so, then we unhesitatingly affirm that it must be classed in the same shameful category with the Colfax check and the Dawes and Patterson, and Kelly dividends. There is only one advantage Dix has—he has not yet lied about the ugly transaction.

GEN. GORDON who has just been elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Georgia receives his promotion to that body solely on the ground of his services in the rebel army during the rebellion.—Republican I.

We know not how that is. But will our cotemporary please inform us on what ground Gen. Longstreet, one of the most prominent officers in the rebel army, and Lee's right hand man received an office from Grant which pays him a salary of $12,000 a year? Grant also tendered a fat office to the guerilla Mosby. On what ground pray?—Volunteer.

In the great battle of Gettysburg Longstreet commanded a rebel corps—Gordon a brigade. The most destructive work on this field was done by the troops commanded by Grant's present favorite Longstreet.

COUNTING THE ELECTORAL VOTE.—As fixed by law, the Senate and House of Representatives held a joint session on Wednesday of last week, for the purpose of counting the electoral vote for President and Vice-President of the United States. The session was a very long one, and resulted in the Senate having to return to their hall three times to vote on the objections raised on receiving the votes of certain States while in joint conference. The final result of which was that the votes of the States of Georgia, Arkansas, and Louisiana were thrown out, and that U. S. Grant and Henry Wilson were elected President and Vice President to serve for four years from March 4, 1873. Grant had 288 votes, opposition 16.

POOR COLFAX.—The defense of Colfax sinks him beneath contempt. Oakes Ames $1,200 deposited by Colfax June 22 1868 he pretends to have received, or rather 1,000 of it, a single greenback, as a present from George F. Nesbitt of New York, now dead, in a letter now destroyed which the writer said he wrote without the knowledge of any other person!

The defense is a palpable lie, of contemptible ingenuity. He fortifies it by the recollection of his sister and step-father, whose evidence, if true shows that even then Colfax knew the measure of his guilt, and within his own family circle was a hypocrite.

These be thy gods O Republicans!—World.

THERE is talk of expelling Congressmen Ames and Brooks for corrupt practices, and excusing all others named in connection with the scandal. How can Ames be expelled if he did not bribe anybody? and they all swear most solemnly he did not. Another trouble appears to be that an expulsion of the guilty ones would reduce the Republican majority to a dangerous point and leave the House without a leader.

THE colored gentleman's account of how a stolen chicken came to be found in his hat, is now compared to the "explanations" of the Congressmen who did take the Credit Mobilier stock. "Golly," said he, "that's queer—how d'you s'pose he got there? Must have crawled up my trousers leg." The gentlemen caught with the money in their pockets now think it must have crawled up their trousers leg.

THE Albany Evening Journal says that the Republican party is "not a machine but a union of the thinking and moral elements, coming together to accomplish the best purposes of our national mission." Doubtless, and now will the Journal explain whether Oakes Ames was the thinker and Colfax the moralist?

THE city of Reading, on Friday last, voted under the "local option" law, and gave 1700 majority in favor of "license." A Republican Mayor was elected at the same time.

Cameron county goes against license by 231. Elk gives 500 majority for license.

THE New York Independent undertakes to defend the Credit Mobilier rascals. The Radical religious press seems to be no better than the secular. What a party of "great moral ideas!"

MAD DOG.—A dog belonging to Mr. Franklin C. Rice, in Butler township, went mad a few days ago, and was at once killed. It is supposed he was bitten about nine months ago by a strange dog.

BIG PORK.—Franklin county is ahead. Mr. Steiger, at Mercersburg some time ago killed a hog which weighed 801 lbs. Since then John Mowen, of Antrim township slaughtered one weighing 816 pounds.

AN important conference of railroad men took place at Washington a few days ago, the object being the extension of the Frederick and Pa. Line Railroad to that city. The Legislature of Maryland and Congress are to be applied to for the necessary legislation.

THE biennial exercises of the Philomathean Society of Pennsylvania College will take place in Agricultural Hall on Saturday evening next Feb. 22d—to consist of orations and music prepared specially for the occasion. The public are cordially invited.

FROM 12 to 1 o'clock on Thursday last business was suspended and bells were tolled in this place as a mark of respect for the late Governor Geary, whose remains were at that time being borne to their last resting place in the cemetery at Harrisburg. Gen. Geary participated in the battle of Gettysburg, having had a command on Culp's Hill.

UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE.—Hagerstown Twice a Week says that owing to an unfortunate mistake of the Express company at Memphis, Tenn., last week the remains of Miss Julia Hahn placed in the charge of the company, to be forwarded to this town, were carried to Hagerstown, Indiana, and consequently did not arrive in Hagerstown until the Saturday following.

A WARNING TO PARENTS.—The following statement is made in the last annual report of the Hon. J. P. Wickersham State Superintendent of Common Schools. "There are multitudes idly waiting for vacant clerkships and middled offices, while mechanical work more honorable and more remunerative, invites on all sides the efforts of willing hands. It is a fact as startling as it is significant that, of 17,000 criminals in the United States in 1868, 97 per cent of them had never learned a trade. Out of 240 convicts received at the Eastern Penitentiary last year only 12 had been apprenticed and served their time."

SUDDEN DEATH OF A PRIEST.—Rev. Father Burlando died at the Catholic parsonage in Emmittsburg on Sunday evening last. According to our information, he had just returned from the College or Sisterhood and whilst engaged in private devotion, was observed to sink. Medical aid availed nothing, death occurred in a few moments. The remains were interred at the Sisterhood on Tuesday.

The deceased for a number of years, managed much of the business of the Sisters of Charity, and his usefulness to the institution could not well be over estimated. He will be greatly missed.

SUDDEN DEATH.—About 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon last our community was startled by the report of the sudden death of Mrs. Henry J. Fahnestock. Wedded only four months and now dead!

She had gone to her room, on the second story. A member of the family below heard a noise in her apartment and upon going up to investigate the cause, found her lifeless body upon the floor. Death is attributed to disease of the heart.

She was the only daughter of the late Jacob Hill of Bucks county, Pa. A devoted wife and an amiable and accomplished lady her loss falls with sad weight upon a large circle of relatives and friends. Her age was about 30 years.

THE third anniversary of the New Oxford Bible Society was held on the evening of the 1st instant. Rev. A. Spangler of the Reformed church conducted the introductory exercises. The annual report was read. Receipts during the year $[illegible], sent to Parent Society $50. The sum of $20 was subscribed, to make Rev. A. Spangler and J. S. Delwiler life members. After further subscriptions and collections, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John R. Hersh, President; Rev. A. Spangler, Vice President; Dr. F. W. Hendrix, Secretary; A. Sheely, Treasurer; Henry Sanders, Daniel Ehrehart, John Blair, D. J. A. Melhorn, Miss Kate Miley, Miss Lou Ott, Miss Kate Spangler, and Miss Maggie Moritz, Managers.

EFFECTS OF THE COLD—ARE OUR FRUIT TREES AND BEES KILLED?—The range of Far. Thermometer, on the morning of the 19th of January ult., was variously set down, in our Valley, according to locality and the instrument, at from 10 to 30 degrees below zero. The theory is that at 15 degrees below o, peach trees are killed, but this is something which can only be determined when the sap shall flow in the spring. At present, fruit men are divided upon the point that peach and grape buds are killed. The largest and most intelligent grape growers about Hagerstown contend that an examination of the buds develops, already the fact that we will have, this year, no peaches or grapes, whilst persons from the hills west of town maintain the opposite. We learn also that at least one half of the hives of bees in this vicinity have been killed out-right, and probably three-fourths. Among the survivors are the Italian bee, which is greatly superior to the old black bee and decidedly more hardy.—[Hagerstown Mail.

Whilst in the country a few days ago we were shown a very handsome young peach orchard, the trees four to five feet high, limbs thick and strong and the bark fresh and vigorous. Its appearance was most promising—and yet the owner assured us that the intense cold of the winter had killed every tree in the orchard, a fact which he demonstrated by cutting off several twigs, the wood of which proved red to the heart, and removing the bark from different points along the trunk. He thinks he may still have an orchard by cutting down the trees and taking care of the sprouts, but his chance for desirable fruit is a poor one. No doubt many of our people sustain loss from the same cause. We have as yet heard nothing said about the probable condition of the grapes—nor as to the bees.

RAILROAD MEETING.—AT HEIDLERSBURG.—The meeting at the Public School-house in Heidlersburg on Thursday, the 13th inst., was largely attended and earnest. John Burkholder, Esq., presided, assisted by Messrs. David Deitrich, John B. Hoffman, Peter Hummer, A. A. Wierman and Levi Raffensperger as Vice Presidents and Jacob C. Pittenturf and Isaac Bender as Secretaries. Charles Yeatts, William Sadler, Christian Dearduff, Elijah Wagner and Peter Hummer were appointed an Executive Committee.

The meeting was addressed at length by Hon. S. G. Boyd and L. W. Stahle. Brief addresses were also made by Col. Hood, Warner Townsend, W. A. [illegible] and Capt. John Burkholder.

Arrangements were made with Col. Hood, Chief Engineer of the Peachbottom Railway to commence a survey of the route by the 4th of March ensuing.

AT MIDDLETOWN.—The meeting at Middletown, on Thursday the 13th was well attended and considerable interest manifested. President, Noah G. Camp; Vice Presidents, Hezekiah Low, John Schlosser and Samuel Brown; Jacob M. Bushey, Secretary; Executive Committee William Brown, Andrew Boyd, Daniel Welder, Jacob B. Trostle, Dr. J. E. Bucher and Israel Shank. Remarks were made by Jeremiah W. Diehl, A. A. Wierman, Wm. Brown, Jr., Elias Spangler, Levi [illegible] and A. D. Taylor.

MASONIC.—The officers of Hebron Lodge No. 465 at York Springs were installed by D. D. G. M. Robert H. Thomas on Monday night as follows: W. M., F. N. W. Bowers; S. W., C. G. Beitler; J. W., Jonathan Miller; Sec., E. E. Worley; Treas., J. Cook; Chaplain, John R. Group; S. D., A. K. Myers; J. D., W. S. Decker; S. M. C., Philip W. Group; J. M. C., J. J. Hart; P., J. [illegible] Gardner; Tyler, John Day.

D. D. G. M. Thomas installed the officers of Good Samaritan Lodge, No. 336, Gettysburg on Thursday evening last, as follows: W. M., W. R. H. Deatrick; S. W., Wm. Stahl; J. W., D. A. Skelly; Sec., J. M. Krauth; Treas., H. G. Fahnestock; S. D., James Bigham; J. D., J. H. Wert; S. M. C., Wm. F. Culp; J. M. C., Wm. P. Ziegler; [illegible], Wm. D. Holtzworth; Tyler, John Gass. The Lodge will hereafter meet on the third Thursday evening of each month.

DEATH OF DANIEL TROSTLE.—We are pained to announce the death of Daniel Trostle, the well known proprietor of the National House in this place. He died on Monday afternoon, after a brief illness of only three or four days. Mr. Trostle was a native of Adams county and came to Chambersburg in 1842. In 1849 he took charge of the hotel on West Market street now known as Miller's Hotel, which he conducted for about ten years. He then took charge of the Franklin Hotel, on the corner where the Central Presbyterian Church now stands, where he remained until a short time before the fire, when he took charge of the hotel which stood on the site of the present building known far and wide as "Trostle's Hotel." After the burning of Chambersburg in 1864 Mr. Trostle went to Newville, Cumberland county and kept a hotel there until the National House was built, when he came back to Chambersburg and has been keeping that house ever since. Mr. Trostle was widely known through all this section of the State, and had many friends. He was a genial, clever and kind hearted man and his death is regretted by the whole community. He leaves a wife and four daughters to whom we extend our sympathies in their sad bereavement.—[Chambersburg Spirit.

A COLORED JUROR.—At the Bedford County Court last week a colored man named Lyon was in attendance as a juror. The Republican organ of the county, the Inquirer is quite jubilant over the fact that he was empanelled in a case and seated alongside of a "red hot Democrat." It adds: "Mr. Lyon's conduct in the jury box was very becoming, and has won for him the respect of all the decent people who saw him."

What had he to do but to keep quiet and listen? We know some white sedlings whose conduct in the jury box has been "very becoming" but it never won for them our respect. The Inquirer had to say something and it did not know what to say.—[Spirit.

LECTURE IN ROCK CREEK METHODIST CHURCH.—On next Monday evening, February 24th, Rev. J. B. Young will deliver his lecture, "Echoes from Round Top," in compliance with repeated requests in Rock Creek M. E. Church. The lecture will be illustrated by new and beautiful maps of the campaign and battlefield at Gettysburg—Proceeds for the benefit of the above church.

For the Compiler.

MR. EDITOR:—Pursuant to a call of John P. Brown, a number of friends of Education convened at Stony Point School-house, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 14th, and organized under the name of "The Union Literary Association." The object of the association is to afford an opportunity for intellectual improvement and advance the cause of popular education. The association has held five meetings, the exercises consisting of Select Readings, Debates, Vocal Music, Declamations, &c. The meetings have been well attended by the citizens of the surrounding neighborhood evincing an interest in the success of the association. An attractive programme has been arranged for the next meeting, when the following question will be discussed: "Resolved That intemperance is a greater evil than war."

For the Compiler.

The following question is submitted to the members of choirs and singing classes for consideration, and a reply is desired:

Is it proper to adopt the operatic style in the execution of church music? J. I. P.

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE MONEY?—If so, call at J. L. Schick's store, Gettysburg, where you will find a full line of Ladies' Dress Goods, Cloths, Cassimeres, Domestic Goods, Notions, &c., of the latest styles—all of which will be sold at lowest cash rates.

THE PRICE OF TYPE.—Messrs. George P. Rowell & Co. announce that they have at their warehouse in New York an assortment of type from one of the most celebrated foundries in the world that of Figgins, London, England, which they will sell at 20 per cent discount from the American scale, when ordered in fonts of 100 pounds and upwards. They also offer to import large fonts on special orders at a greater discount from the American scale, and profess to be able to fill the largest order in eight weeks from date of its receipt in New York. They supply sorts in large or small quantities from their stock on hand in New York at the American scale rate. They assert that if the present duty on type shall be removed, the price of the article, both of home and foreign manufacture, will immediately fall 40 per cent below the present scale. Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. are known as conducting the largest advertising business ever secured by one house and are also extensive dealers in printing material. They are compelled to import foreign goods because American founders, governed by a close corporation or ring, keep the price vastly too high, and at the same time make it an exception to every other species of merchandise by recognizing no wholesale price—the same amount per pound being charged to the purchaser of five thousand pounds as would be paid by him who wants but fifty.

THE Hanover Spectator says it will charge advertising rates for publishing communications on the license question—for or against. Many other papers will do likewise.

PERSONS wishing to invest monies or convert Securities are referred to the advertisement of the Gettysburg National Bank. tf

NOTICE.—I have this day removed my stock of Hats and Shoes to Spangler's new three-story building, one door north of my former location where I shall be happy to meet all my old friends and customers and many new ones. AMOS ECKERT.

WHY ENDURE WHAT IS CURABLE?—"What can't be cured must be endured," says the proverb, but indigestion can be cured, and therefore it is the merest silliness to endure it. Dyspeptics have certainly a right to continue dyspeptics to the end of their days if they choose, but as it is not supposed that any rational being prefers physical torment to ease and health the probability is that if all sufferers from indigestion were convinced that an absolute infallible remedy for their complaint existed, they would with one accord resort to it. We most emphatically declare that such a remedy does exist and that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of its success extends over a period of more than twenty years and it is fearlessly alleged that during the whole of that time it has never failed to afford permanent relief in any disorder or derangement of the stomach that was not organic, malignant, and incurable. The testimonials that go to establish this important fact can be counted by the thousand. Stomach complaints that had been aggravated by a total disregard of all dietary rules and intensified and rendered chronic by drastic treatment or drastic purgation have in hundreds of instances been cured within the months by the systematic use of this celebrated stomachic and alterative. It should be remembered that weakness of the digestive organs involves many other ailments—Biliousness, headache, nervous debility, spasms, palpitation of the heart, rush of blood to the head, nausea, vertigo and sleeplessness are among its concomitants and [illegible] the great vegetable tonic is a specific. It acts first upon the [illegible] organs and nervous systems and the [illegible] its general effect being always genial and beneficent. 1m

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair oils, pomatums and pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the surface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing, it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of fashion. It

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial describes the appearance and reception of Hon. Alexander H. Stephens before an audience at Atlanta, Ga., on the occasion of a recent speech. He says when Mr. Stephens emerged from the hotel he was wrapped in three overcoats and a horse blanket. He entered the House of Representatives leaning on the arms of two men. When he arose before the audience he was received with prolonged cheering, showing that his opposition to the Cincinnati-Baltimore platform had not diminished his popularity in Georgia. He spoke in an erect position, supported by a crutch under his left arm. His voice was clear and shrill, and not a word was lost in any part of the hall, unless the sound was drowned by applause. Each word came with marvellous distinctness, although his voice did not seem to be unduly elevated. In his weak and wasted condition he spoke for more than two hours.

THE Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard, an old and influential Republican journal, takes a "new departure," and will hereafter "favor any party which is the champion of reform, the foe of centralization, and the advocate of economy." The tyranny of Grant's administration, as demonstrated in the Louisiana case, and the rottenness of the Republican leaders, as proven in the Credit Mobilier investigation, have proven too much for the conscience of the Standard's editor.

The tide is gradually but surely turning in favor of a return to Democratic rule.

COLFAX'S "explanation" is almost universally disbelieved. He deserves no credence. It now appears that his flat denial in his speech at South Bend was a crafty equivocation—a lie, in the sense in which he meant it to be received by the public.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

—For the "Story of the Credit Mobilier," see first page.

—We print Sale Bills from $1.50 upward.

—In Jefferson county, Pennsylvania hotel keepers publish that the adoption of "no license" will compel them to double their charges for meals, lodging and horse feed.

—The result [illegible] telegraphic communication [illegible] Wisconsin, [illegible] to set it right as soon as they can clear away the snow deep enough to get down to the wires.

—700 Mormon pioneers will go to their new settlement in Arizona.

—The peach trees in Kentucky have been seriously damaged by the frost.

—A great earthquake in the island of Samos, Greece, has caused great destruction of life and property.

—A house near Jefferson, Iowa, was burned, 23d, and the owner, Mr. Curtis, his two children and his mother, perished in the flames.

—A charivari party in Fayette county, W. Va., killed a bride on her wedding night, with a few wad fired from a shot gun.

—It is stated that John W. Young, one of the favorite and most business-like of Brigham Young's sons now out on railroad business has divorced two of his three wives and will hereafter reside in Philadelphia.

—California eclipses the [illegible] records of humanity with a live frog, lately set free from the centre of a stratum of sandstone which according to Sir Wm. Thompson's chronology must be several million years old?

—A flowing well at Virginia City, Nevada [illegible] the water of which has been settled by having thirty settlers thrown into it who on various occasions were made to kick the bucket by violent means. It is said that a neighboring brewer thinks of turning it to account to make beer with an extra body in it.

OUR readers have heard much about the Credit Mobilier fraud without probably having any intelligent idea as to the magnitude of the operation. In order that they may form some estimate of the amount of cash their enterprising public servants have pocketed in this speculation we give the following figures showing the profits realized.

The profits on Ames' contracts for building the Union Pacific railroad as divided, were $20,854,900 and on the Davis contract $7,502,135, or over $37,000,000 which were stolen. The government subsidy was $27,000,000, which it will be seen, was wholly appropriated by the Credit Mobilier gang.

OPINIONS seem to differ as to the results of prohibition in the Eastern States. Generally the results are reported by the temperance men to be satisfactory. But here is the other side. The Hartford Evening Herald says:

"Prohibition has been tried and found wanting. It has done nothing to check the sale or use of intoxicating liquors. It has done nothing to reform the inebriates. It has done nothing towards relieving the wants of a drunkard's family. The experiment of saying 'no liquor shall be sold in the State' has been tried for years and not to a single good result derived from it can its most ardent admirer point."

THE Washington Star alleges as the reason why Senator Nye, of Nevada, was not re-elected that "Nye sold his 'claim' to John P. Jones, and had checks for $50,000 on the Bank of California as long ago as August, and the transaction was then, and is now, as notorious as the heathen Chinee game itself." And such are the model Republican statesmen who have been ruling this country for the last twelve years!

WHERE is Petroleum V. Nasby, these Credit Mobilier times? Why is it that the distinguished Post Master of "Confederate X Roads" doesn't have one of his bad spells on the strength of his friends Colfax, Wilson, Garfield, Kelley, Dawes and Company getting into this scandalous scrape with Oakes Ames? Nasby! Nasby! Where art thou!

Died on the 27th of January, at [illegible], Mrs. ANNA MARY YEATES, aged 49 years [illegible] months and [illegible] days.

After a short illness of about one month, her spirit took its final departure. This [illegible] blessed intelligence seemed not to [illegible] that the dear departed [illegible] [illegible] Hospital that this illness would still in health, but though all her suffering was characterized by the same cheerful and [illegible] disposition that accompanied her through her long life. Her confidence could be in many things in the kind manner with which she addressed and treated all around her. She was enabled to leave many words of counsel ready to be given to extreme cases when required. A [illegible] death her face was bright and with that cheerful smile.

Yet what a glorious consolation to know that she would be in the heavenly world. She had always [illegible] the life of a true Christian, saying "the Lord will provide and to [illegible] me." Towards the close of her life when asked of her how she was, she would answer: "Better, better." We thought this strange, but she said, "No, I am better, my Father comes when I wait for so long. He has come for me, I am ready, I am going home with him to a beautiful world." She then prayed God to bless all her good kind neighbors, for all the friends who had done so much for her during her sickness. She would add "It will—he will—I know he will." She was thoughtful and perfectly sensible in her last hours, and left the blessed assurance that if we live lives devoted to Christianity as becomes us, if we would be happy here and hereafter, upon our departure we can [illegible] join her where she has gone before us.

Then in heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed.

We Clergymen
WERE CURED

OF Chronic and Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Kidney, and Nervous Diseases, after years of suffering, by taking Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup—the scientific discovery of J. P. Fitler, M. D., a regular graduate physician, with whom we are personally acquainted, who has for 39 years treated these diseases exclusively with astonishing results. We believe it our christian duty, after deliberation, to conscientiously request sufferers to use it, especially persons in moderate circumstances who cannot afford to waste money and time on worthless mixtures. As clergymen we seriously feel the deep responsibility resting on us in publicly endorsing this medicine. But our knowledge and experience of its remarkable merit fully justifies our action. Rev. C. H. Ewing, M. Ch. Penna, suffering sixteen years, became hopeless. Rev. Thomas Murphy, D. D., Frankford, Philadelphia. Rev. J. B. Davis, Hightstown, New Jersey. Rev. J. S. Buchanan, Clarence, Iowa. Rev. G. G. Smith, Pittsford, New York. Rev. Joseph Beggs, Falls Church, Philada. Other testimonials from Senators, Governors, Judges, Congressmen, Physicians, &c., forwarded gratis with pamphlet explaining these diseases. One thousand dollars will be presented to any medicine for same diseases showing equal merit under test, or that can produce one-fourth as many living cures. Any person sending by letter description of affliction will receive gratis a legally signed guarantee, naming the number of bottles to cure, agreeing to refund money upon sworn statement of its failure to cure. Afflicted invited to write to Dr. Fitler, Philada. His valuable advice costs nothing. For sale by all Druggists.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored

Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps, by addressing the publishers.

CELEBRATED
HORSE AND CATTLE POWDERS.

THIS preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited HORSES, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of COWS this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent, and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of SWINE, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill, the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

FARMERS' SOCIAL.

The "Farmers' Social, No. 1," met at Mr. T. T. Norris's, in Cumberland township, on Thursday last. The company was cordially welcomed, and after a good warming, the subject of Liming Land came up for the morning's talk—Mr. Wm. Wible in the Chair, and H. A. Picking, Esq., at his post as Secretary. All present spoke from considerable experience in liming, and the discussion proved one of unusual interest—Wm. Wible, T. T. Norris, H. A. Picking, John E. Pitzer and H. J. Stahle participating. About 1 o'clock a fine dinner invited "discussion" of another sort, and not the least enjoyable of the day. Next came a view of Mr. Norris's neat premises—stock, products and implements—and then "liming" was resumed, closing with the adoption of several propositions: that applied in a fine, dusty condition, lime always acts best; that, labor and outlay considered, it is most desirable to apply lime on land plowed for corn in the spring; next best on sod eighteen months or two years before turning down; last, but not least, always to keep in view the injunction of an intelligent old farmer, "put it on! put it on!"

The care of colts also came in for some talk, and the general expression was in favor of keeping them well housed.

The Social then adjourned to meet at the house of another member on the 28th inst.

RABBITS AND YOUNG FRUIT TREES.

MR. EDITOR: The question, "why are rabbits protected by law?" has often occurred to me, and new evidences of their injurious work suggests it again. They are not musical and ornamental, as birds are; nor do they live upon weed-seeds, bugs, grubs and other "vermin," as the birds do. Instead of living to help the farmer and fruit grower, the rabbit's whole life is one of destructiveness. And in a county like Adams, full of nurseries and orchards, its work is felt to an annoying and hurtful extent. Near a rabbit burrow it is almost impossible to get young trees over winter, barking them as they do from the ground up as high as they can reach; and their worthless lives are saved to do more and more injury by a solemnly enacted law of the Legislature! The fruit grower has no remedy. He dare not kill a rabbit "out of season," but must tamely allow it to kill his nursery or orchard. If the matter were fully considered, a demand would go up from the entire State for the wiping out of an enactment conceived in mistaken charity, and which has only resulted in harm. The ball for repeal will have the "push" of at least one

FRUIT GROWER.

BREEDING DRAFT HORSES.

The American Stock Journal says: We know of no branch of live stock husbandry promising more certain profit in the United States than breeding heavy draft stock, whether of the English or French breeds.

While traveling in France during the past summer, we were much pleased with their work horses, which are mostly of the Percheron, Norman or Flemish breeds.

There are very few geldings in France. The reason is, the stallions are not unmanageable, vicious, and dangerous as work horses, but docile, obedient, managable and intelligent.—There is nothing in the nature of things to prevent our having the advantage of the greater toughness, strength, spirit, fearlessness, safety, (in being less liable to take fright,) freedom from disease, and long serviceableness of the stallion over the gelding, were it not that we and our ancestors have so abused the temper of the horse, that his progeny exhibit, among the unaltered males, vicious and treacherous tempers such as make them unsafe and unreliable as work horses, even under the kindest and most uniform treatment.

We have seen women and girls driving spirited stallions through the streets of Paris with perfect safety and ease, often leaving them stand with a number of other horses without hitching.—It is a common sight in the street of Paris to see three or four large stallions driven tandem to a large cart or dray, with no lines or anything to guide them but the voice of the driver, which they obey implicitly.

There are a few teams of this class in our cities, and they are the admiration of all who see them. With anything like an adequate supply they would become fashionable, and the demand be almost unlimited. The subject is well worth the attention of horsemen, as well as of those farmers who breed a few horses for sale.

To obtain such animals as rapidly, and at the same time as cheaply as possible, American farmers should import the best and most suitable Norman or English stallions. The walk of the best breed of these animals is not only quick, but their trotting action is fine, and fully equal to five to seven miles an hour over a good road, drawing a heavy load after them. These qualities not only fit them for the city dray, but also for all kinds of farm and general road work.

Large, well bred mares should be selected and bred to these stallions, when the produce would be found all that is required. Our farmers might commence moderately working colts thus bred, at two years old; for if well fed and cared for, at this age they are as strong as ordinary horses at three and four years old, and are perfectly able to do all ordinary kinds of farm work. The breeder thus gains one to two years on every colt he raises, thus greatly cheapening their production. At five and six years old they may be taken to the city for sale, where they would readily command from $300 to $500.

FERTILIZERS.

One of the most interesting facts, which extraordinarily wet seasons have brought out is, that fertilizers applied to soils in dry summers without appreciable effects, are rendered available in those that are wet. The plats upon which our fertilizers have been applied during the past years, when the rainfall was deficient, produced wonderfully in wet seasons. The fertilizing substances lie dormant in the soil for the want of water to render them soluble or to hold them in solution, until the conditions are favorable for promoting the changes, chemical and mechandical, necessary for plant food to be made available. Owing to the dry weather the past three years, it has been difficult to conduct experiments with manures, and reach anything like reliable results. Hundreds of farmers have missed, and have condemned as worthless manurial substances which had positive value, but which needed the usual meteorological agencies to render them assimilable. Farm dung and stable manures, as well as chemical fertilizers, have not exerted their full influence upon soils to which they have been applied, because of the absence of rain.—When thoroughly subjected to the action of water, crops have been benefitted by the dormant manurial agents applied two or three years ago. Manures are not lost which do not act promptly, unless they are blown away by winds, or are washed into brooks in sudden and violent showers, which sometimes fall upon the baked earth in summer. If they remain in or upon the soil, favorable seasons, which are sure to come, will force them to give up to plants the food they contain, and the husbandman receives his return in abundant crops.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

ASHES and lime are good fertilizers for potatoes, and if a small quantity of salt is added to the mixture the compost would be improved.

Plaster sprinkled on the potato vines, soon after they appear above ground, and once or twice after, will exert a good influence in retaining the health of the potato.

IT is predicted that the next English wheat crop will be far below an average, the heavy rains in the fall having prevented seeding. The fact stated may have something to do with the present advanced price of wheat.

IN the year 1817, Mr. Coke, of Holkham, (afterwards Earl of Leicester,) gave to Mr. Robt. Patterson, of Baltimore, six North Devon heifers, and a yearling Devon bull—the first Devons brought to this country.

Household Department.

WHERE TO SETTLE—HEALTHY LOCALITIES.

People are growing wiser on the subject of health. They appreciate its importance and value better than they used to.

When they are looking for a new home now, their first inquiry is, is it healthy?

This is wise. No matter how fertile the lands may be, no matter how beautiful the rivers, or sunny the skies, man should not dwell where health is not.

Nothing compensates for the loss of health. What avails your immense growth of crops, if the fever and ague be growing in your blood and bones with like exuberance?

Emigrants to the west cannot be too careful on this point. To say nothing of the danger to one's self, what moral right has anybody to expose his family and children unnecessarily to illness and death?

The mistake for a long time prevailed of regarding chills and fever as a temporary and rather contemptible inconvenience, merely. People laughed and joked about "the shakes" as if it were something they could soon shake off.

But experience has shown that chills and fever impair the strength of the constitution, and expose it to other and more directly fatal diseases.

Health and happiness are almost as nearly related as twin brothers. It is not worth while to try to separate them.—Ledger.

To go with cold feet is to undermine the constitution, and this half the women and girls are doing. They have a habit of cold feet and an accompanying habit of ill health. Thick, home-knit woolen socks are not very fashionable. Once, no country girl was reckoned fit to be married until she had knit her pillow-case full of stockings, but it is not so now. I do not regret that less hand-knitting is done now than formerly, but I hope we shall not give up woolen stockings for winter until we can replace them with something better. Merino, or the common "boughten" white wool stockings, are rather thin, but some of us supplement them with an additional pair of cotton stockings, wearing the cotton or woolen pair next the feet, as individuals prefer. Cold feet are often caused, at least in part, by too tight elastics or bands at the tops of the stockings, or by tight shoes, or shoes light in the ankles. These interfere with the circulation of the blood, and there cannot be a comfortable degree of warmth without a good circulation and aeration of the blood.

THE use of wax in the ears, which people think so very troublesome, is of the highest importance. It keeps the passage to the drum of the ear moist, and is besides deadly poison to insects, and its presence in the ear effectually protects the ear from their incursions. It sometimes accumulates and becomes hard, causing partial deafness, but a little warm castor oil, mixed with spirits, will remedy that, or an injection of suds.

GUINEA PIGS.—A writer of distinction says those little, plump, clean animals should be used for food. A mistaken notion is entertained generally that they are a kind of rat, and therefore an unjust prejudice ought to be overcome, since they are excellent eating. Guinea pigs are not pigs. They are harmless, timid, vegetable feeders. Their flesh is nutritous and delicate. If once received into our markets, being easily raised, they would soon be prized for their many desirable dietetic properties. Being prolific, too, they might be raised in vast abundance, their food being an item of no expense, a few cabbage leaves, roots or waste parings being all they would require to grow into proportions to fill vacancies in a gourmand's stomach.

DR. CARPENTER

138 MULBERRY STREET, NEWARK, N. J.,

Is now treating successfully Consumption, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, with his COMPOUND MEDICATED INHALATIONS, CONCENTRATED FOOD, AND COUGH SYRUP.

During the past ten years Dr. Carpenter has treated and cured thousands of cases of the above named diseases, and has now in his possession certificates of cures from every part of the country. THE INHALATION is breathed directly into the lungs, soothing and healing over all inflamed surfaces, entering into the blood, it imparts vitality as it permeates to every part of the system. The sensation is not unpleasant, and the first inhalation often gives very decided relief, particularly when there is much difficulty of breathing. Under the influence of my remedies, the cough soon grows easier, the night sweats cease, the hectic flush vanishes, and with improving digestion the patient rapidly gains strength, and health is again within his grasp.

THE CONCENTRATED FOOD rapidly builds up the most debilitated patient, presenting to the stomach food all ready to be assimilated and made into good, rich, healthy blood.

THE COUGH SYRUP is to be taken at night to alleviate the cough and enable the patient to obtain sleep. Full directions accompany each box of my remedies, which consists of One Inhaler; One Bottle of Alterative Inhalant; One Bottle of Soothing Febrifuge Inhalant; One Bottle of Anti Hemorrhagic Inhalant; One Bottle Concentrated Food; One Bottle of Cough Syrup.

Price of Box containing remedies to last one month, $10; two months, $18; three months, $25.

Sent to any address C. O. D. Pamphlets containing large list of patients cured sent free. Letters of inquiry must contain one dollar to insure answer. Address A. H. CARPENTER, M. D., Newark, N. J.

DR. CARPENTER'S CATARRH REMEDY will give immediate relief, and will effect a permanent cure in from one to three months. Price of remedy to last one month, $5; two months, $8; three months, $10.

CANCER in all its forms successfully treated. Send for list of patients cured, to A. H. CARPENTER, M. D., Newark, N. J.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN PATENT FENCE

Superior to all Others.

HEZ. LATSHAW, Patentee,

McKnightstown, Adams County, Pa.

THE combination secured in this Patent allows the purchaser of a Right to put up the different kinds of fence, by applying the clevis principle. Among the many points of excellence may be mentioned:

1—This Fence when put down is perfectly tight in its place and remarkably strong.
2—By its use you can keep stock just where wanted.
3—It withstands storms and will not be moved by them.
4—It is unaffected by frosts.
5—It is not subject to rot, as fences whose principal part is in the ground.
6—Although quite stationary when put down, it is easily taken up uninjured, and as a portable fence in changing it from one part of land to another, it results in great benefit and profit to the Land-owner.
7—It is a large saving of Timber over other ordinary fences now generally in use.
8—It costs less than other Fences.
9—It can be made and put up by almost any person, Farmer, &c.

In the use of this Patent, the Fence is built entirely above ground, with braces to hold the panels, set edgewise, crossed above as the letter X, with bolt at the centre of crossing and in below. The braces are cut slanting, with the Clevis attached, and pin driven through it into the ground. Not only is the fence firm and immovable, but durable, as nothing can rot except the pins, which can be replaced without disturbing the fence. It is applicable to outside and pailing fence.

It is the most economical fence that can be put up. In every 100 panel of post board fence there is a gain of 15 panel over the usual post fence. Less timber is required, and timber can be used that would not answer in ordinary fence. Timber but 1½ feet long will make post or brace under this patent—scrub-oak, white oak, short lengths, &c., making durable posts that will last for many years.

It is admirably adapted for a portable fence, using either 4 or 5 boards, to turn small stock, Hogs, Sheep, and even cattle. By moving it from place to place, or field to field, the farmer can pasture where he pleases, or even portions of fields. Vegetable grounds and small lots can be protected, with but little expense and labor.

The fence can be prepared by the farmer himself at his leisure during winter—loaded up in a wagon in the spring, and put up at once as the wagon goes along. One person alone can set up 60 or 75 panels in a day. It can readily be adjusted to hill-side or uneven ground.

Samples of this Fence can be seen at the Ware-house of Monfort & Co., (formerly Bigham's,) in Gettysburg, where it will be shown and the principle fully explained by Alexander Cobean, my Agent. Samples can also be seen in McKnightstown, and will be put up at other points in the county.

Every person in the county having property to protect and beautify, should secure an Individual Right, which will be sold reasonably. No farm Rights will be sold out of Adams county; only State and County will be sold.

For further information, call on or address HEZ. LATSHAW, McKnightstown, Adams county, Pa.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

Purely Vegetable.

FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, the balsamic, healing and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good, nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

KISSINGER & CO.,

NO. 2 WEST MARKET STREET, YORK, PA.,

AGENTS AND DEALERS IN PIANOS, CABINET ORGANS, MELODEONS AND ALL KINDS OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

respectfully inform the public that they are prepared to furnish Pianos of the following manufacture or of any other make that may be preferred:

Albright, Reihes & Schmidt, Chickering & Son, Bradbury, Knabe & Son, Gale & Son,

ESTEY'S CELEBRATED COTTAGE, HARMONIC AND BOUDOIR ORGANS AND MELODEONS.

These Instruments stand unrivalled by anything found in this country or in Europe, as is admitted by all impartial judges. The most eminent Pipe Organ Builders and Performers, the last to discover excellence in reed Tone, pronounced them vastly superior to all others for exceedingly quick articulation and round Tone, the essential feature in instruments of this class. We invite the severe scrutiny and criticism of all.

PATENT VOX HUMANA TREMOLO.

This late and most wonderful invention (so acknowledged by all leading artists) will be found only in the Estey Instruments. In attempting to describe the effect of this stop, we are at loss for language. Its beauties cannot be written, but must be heard to be appreciated. By this stop an ordinary performer can produce an effect which requires a life time of practice for an artist upon a violin. It entirely changes the reed Tone, giving the sympathetic sweetness of the human voice, making it so melodious and pure that it never fails to enchant the listener.

THE HARMONIC ORGAN

for Churches, Public Halls and Parlors has a powerful Sub-Bass with independent reeds, Harmonic attachment and Vox Humana Tremolo, and is believed to be the most powerful reed organ made, being nearly equal to a Pipe Organ of three times the cost.

All instruments warranted for five years.

BRASS BANDS supplied with instruments and music at reasonable terms.

A liberal discount allowed for Churches and Sabbath Schools.

Instructions given both in Vocal and Instrumental Music, at our rooms, and at pupils' homes, either to individuals or classes on reasonable terms.

They are unequalled by any for their strengthening and preserving qualities, and will not injure or pain the weakest eye. Owing to their peculiar construction and the quality of glass used in their manufacture, the sight is enabled to penetrate a much greater distance than can be done by the ordinary glasses without fatigue. Please call and examine before purchasing any other make. We guarantee satisfaction.
